Possibly Incomplete Lists of Veterans of All Wars

Who have lived in Wasatch County:

Utah Indian Wars: (There were many skirmishes, raids and outright wars waged after the arrival of the Pioneers into Utah. For the most part, Wasatch County residents were not involved in any of them, except The Echo War (or Utah War), the Battle Creek (or Pleasant Grove War), The Wasatch County Raids, and Black Hawk War. Our residents were not involved in the Tintic War, Gosiute War, Bear River conflict, Salt Creek Canyon murders, or the last Indian War in America, in Blanding, Utah, called the Posey War. So the following is a list of the Indian War Veterans, as organized on 26 May in 1866, in Heber City, by Col. Robert T. Burton and David J Ross of the Utah Territorial Militia, with orders from General Daniel H Wells. All available men were organized into four Companies, comprising the Wasatch Militia of the Utah Territorial Militia).
